

LITERARY LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

Literary Lifetime Achievement Awards are singular honors reserved for those authors whose body of work has been consistently exemplary throughout their careers. These awards include the following.

The Nobel Prize for Literature; Pen America Awards including the PEN/Saul Bellow, PEN/Nabokov, and PEN/Malamud awards; The National Book Foundation Medals; The Library of Congress Award; The American Academy for Arts and Letters Award; The F. Scott Fitzgerald and Carl Sandberg Literary Awards; The Royal Society for Literature in the U.K Award; The National Endowment for the Humanities Award; The National Arts Club Medal; The Helmerich Award and the Romance Writers of America Award.

Some of the winners listed below have received a number of these awards so rather than duplicate the recipient's name I have listed them just once. The number in parentheses after some names refers to the number of these awards they have received. The authors names are listed in alphabetical order. The exception to this is the Nobel Prize for Literature where we have listed both the author and the year, they received this award separately.

All of these authors have books, stories and/or other printed material in the Heritage Hills Library.
